

Museum of History & Industry (MOHAI) Fact Sheet

Overview:

The Museum of History & Industry is the largest private heritage organization in Washington attracting visitors from the Northwest and beyond, including thousands of school children. MOHAI collects, preserves and presents the rich history of the Pacific Northwest. Its engaging exhibits and programs, its collection of nearly 4 million historic artifacts, archives and photographs, and its award-winning educational programs have created an appreciation for the Northwest's diverse cultural, social and economic history.

Mission:

MOHAI is dedicated to enriching lives by preserving, sharing and teaching the diverse history of Seattle, the Puget Sound region and the nation.

Membership

MOHAI is a membership organization. Members enjoy free admission to the museum as well as a variety of benefits based on the level of membership including discounts to lectures and programs, invitations to opening receptions and more.

Governance

MOHAI is governed by a vibrant Board of Trustees composed of dedicated and engaged members of the community. Along with assisting MOHAI to meet its operational goals and mission, the Trustees are actively involved in supporting the efforts of the capital campaign. MOHAI also has an Advisory Board whose members lend expertise and experience in a wide ranges of areas, providing MOHAI with professional guidance and strategic counsel. Leonard Garfield has served as MOHAI's Executive Director since 1999.

MOHAI is a 501(c)(3), non profit organization funded by membership, grants, admission, and donations.

MOHAI's Future

MOHAI is currently working towards opening an exciting new history museum at the Naval Reserve Building (Armory) in Lake Union Park in the fall of 2012. Full details about the project and the capital campaign can be found at www.historyismoving.org. For campaign information, contact Elaine Ethier, Director of Institutional Advancement at 206.324.1126, ext. 14.
